Objective

To make amateur boxing, especially women boxing, one of the most popular sports. I want to arouse passion of people for boxing and give prestige to our women champions and all the champions worldwide. I want to hear questions of the athletes about the problems they find in rules, competitions and their international sport activities. I want to make boxing – a sport for everyone, without discrimination, racial or gender differences. I wrote a book where I tell my story as a boxer and I hope this could be a good story for young boxers all around the world.
